AGREE AS TO FACTS

State and Standard Oil to Argue Tax Question.

The case of the Commonwealth of Virginia against the Standard Oil Company, set for hearing resterday in the Hustings Court, was deferred until later in the term by agreement of counsel. Commonwealth's Attorney Minetree Folkes said that he had communicated with Munford, Hunton, Williams & Anderson, attorneys for the Standard Oil Company, who were preparing a statement of agreed facts to present to the court. The question involves a matter of law, which must eventually be passed upon by the Supreme Court, The State claims the right to tax purchases, and the local or Virginia branch of the Standard Oil Company denies the right to tax shipments inade to it from the home office of the company, holding that these are not purchases, but mere consignments for sale. Mr. Folkes said he thought there would be no difficulty in agreeing on a statement of the facts in the case in order that the point of law may be argued before the court.

Paragraph Pulpit The Foundations.

The old idea of human nature rests apon the fable of the Garden of Eden —the origin of which is unknown. The new view of human nature rests upon the teachings of modern science. The old idea declares that God began with two perfect beings, under the most favorable conditions—paradise—yet lost control of the race and has been able to save only a small percentage from the wreck. The new idea teaches that thru development God has evolved the creature man; that his work has been without mistakes, without regrets; that his work to-day is not say ing a lost race, but developing a race worthy of life.—Unitarian Publicity Committee.—Advertisement.
